

Shampa Sircar Das

B.F.A. (Painting) from College of Art, New Delhi

Shampa Sircar Das did her B.F.A. (Painting) from College of Art, New Delhi followed by M.F.A (Painting) from Jamia Millia Islamia. The rich Indian cultural heritage and Indian Philosophy inspire Shampa's works. The works are resplendent in symbols that are embedded in a common cultural matrix. Her works encompass a vital embrace of layers of consciousness and realized awareness through individual and shared journeys. For as landscapes of the figural and metaphysic, such painterly endeavors are based upon imagination, fuelled and inspired by mythology, characteristically rich and complex in Buddhist and Vedic pantheons. As in sacred or spiritually based art, the image assists a viewer, creator, and participant, to shed his/her separateness and join in a broader cosmic dance of realization.

The images show the move from adherence to form to beyond form, from a direct documentation of visual embrace to a higher plane of awareness and subtlety. Transience and a sense of movement in these paintings touch the viewer with the play between form and emptiness. Flowing between the material and impermanent, her engagement in work, readings, daily process and absorption in the multi-dimensional process, manifests such as an inner knowledge (vidya) joined with external nature (vimarsha). Parts of worlds both known and perceived, such manifestations question what is tantamount in this embrace of immanence and naturalism.
